Fusam is the solo project of tunisian producer and multi- instrumentalist Heny Maatar; a quest in denial of musical boundaries tending to grasp the universality of the phenomenon of the sound.

Fusam (meaning "Schizophrenia" in arabic) is a narrative stream of consciousness; a constantly evolving journey through which new and fascinating pathways are being explored. The cinematic, experimental Fusam live shows fuse electronic elements with ambiences and electric guitar, creating a unique experience which has captivated audiences in Europe as well as the Middle East. Fusam music revolves around thematics of universal liberties and criticism of indoctrination and social stuctures. Heny released a handful of albums, collaborated and performed locally and internationally.

"On a à peu près tout écouté de Fusam: Dubstep, Post-rock, Trip-Hop, Metal, Breakbeat, Electronica, Psy Trance et autres déambulations sonores, riche témoignage de son éclectisme musical"
